Dawn is a sales and leadership expert who's been featured on CBS News and the Minneapolis Star Tribune.

In her four decades of building teams in the challenging world of direct sales, she directly taught hundreds of entrepreneurs how to build their businesses.

Organizations such as Mary Kay and Tupperware have counted on Dawn's expertise, and she has guided the career growth of bankers, attorneys, and Fortune 500 executives.

In her 14 years of coaching ambitious women executives and business owners, she's guided VPs, CEOs, and entrepreneurs to get promotions, go from invisible to respected, and find their true voice.

Dawn now teaches rising women entrepreneurs relationship-based sales, authentic personal branding, and integrity-filled leadership. She shares her hard-earned secrets to gaining loyal clients who know you have their back.
